Below is Stephen's introduction. Please read it to welcome him to the stage — your energy helps set the moment. Thank you!

Most leadership experts study performance from books and spreadsheets.

Dr. Stephen de Wit studied it in the raw, real moments where relationships either break down... or break through.

For more than twenty years, he's worked at the frontlines of human connection — as a therapist, sexologist, researcher, speaker and facilitator of transformational experiences. He's sat in rooms where trust was fragile, silence was loud, and the cost of disconnection was very real.

What he discovered?
When people don't feel seen, safe, or understood, performance doesn't accelerate... it quietly erodes.

Today, he brings that uncommon lens to share with us.

Blending behavioral science with lived human insight, Stephen helps leaders eliminate invisible friction, rebuild trust fast, and create cultures where people don't just perform... they lean in.

Please welcome the voice behind the Lead Human movement... Dr. Stephen de Wit.
